Securitas strengthens its position as the leading security solutions company in Germany

Securitas has agreed to acquire the electronic security company Draht+Schutz in Germany. Enterprise value is estimated to MSEK 115 (MEUR 12.5).

Draht+Schutz Unternehmengruppe is a full-service provider in the electronic security industry. It offers a full spectrum of consulting, design, installation and maintenance of anti-burglary and fire control systems, CCTV, access control and perimeter security systems. Draht+Schutz has national coverage in Germany and is mainly operating in the small and medium sized enterprise segment. The company has a strong focus on multi-location chain accounts and petrol stations, where they offer standardized solutions and a high degree of process automation.

Draht+Schutz has 160 employees and annual sales of approximately MSEK 175 (MEUR 19).

“During the past years, we have focused on strengthening our technological expertise and have come far to become the leading security solutions company in Germany. With the acquisition of Draht+Schutz we will be able to further accelerate our development in Germany,” says Securitas President and CEO Alf Göransson.

The acquisition is subject to regulatory approval. Closing of the acquisition is expected during the second quarter of 2016, from which point it will be consolidated in Securitas.
